

Matrimonial department expands

Fast moving Macleish Littlestone Cowan have expanded their matrimonial department with the appointment of another solicitor.

Amelia Dumaka, a graduate of London Metropolitan University, has recently joined the firm's matrimonial department based in Ilford. Amelia trained at a well known local firm and specialises in matrimonial law.

Parm Viridi, partner in charge of the firm's matrimonial department made the appointment and commented 'I am delighted Amelia has joined my team and we all look forward to working with her. Her experience will be invaluable to our clients in this challenging area of law.'

MLC is a fast expanding firm of solicitors with offices in Ilford, Barking, Snaresbrook and Sawbridgeworth.
